

David Williams

Partner

I help businesses transform their human resource strategies, supporting growth, innovation, and resilience across evolving sectors.

David Williams is a highly experienced partner with over 20 years of expertise in employment law. He specialises in advising businesses on human capital strategies, with a focus on sectors driven by growth and innovation, particularly in technology. David's legal practice is centred on providing workforce solutions that enable businesses to stay competitive and agile in a rapidly changing environment.

Before joining Fox Williams, David was the Managing Partner and Head of Employment at Kemp Little LLP, a niche technology law firm, which was later acquired by Deloitte. At Deloitte, David continued as Head of Employment, building his extensive experience in advising businesses through transformative challenges.

David's notable achievements include defending a high-profile sex discrimination case and advising on complex mergers and acquisitions, board restructures, change management, and industrial relations. He is also dedicated to supporting responsible business practices and fostering sustainable growth in his clients' organisations.
