

Nik Paskevic

Associate

I am an associate in Fox Williams' corporate team, advising on a range of M&A transactions, equity capital markets and other corporate matters.

Nik Paskevic is an associate in the Fox William's corporate team. He qualified in April 2019 after completing his training contract with another London law firm.

Nik's transactional experience includes advising clients on mergers and acquisitions, capital markets, and fundraising. He also regularly advises on shareholder arrangements and corporate governance.

Nik acts for both private and public companies whose interests span a range of industries, including technology, finance, and renewable energy.

He also acts for entrepreneurs, which includes assisting them with early-stage fundraising and guiding them through the day-to-day challenges of a start-up.
